Flipping Websites For Instant Cash.

NOTE: You'll find the website links to the websites talked about in the video below however we cannot be responsible if links change or are no longer active.

Sitepoint Marketplace

This is the marketplace you'll be using to sell your site. Your site should be listed in the Startup Websites For Sale section. The cost (at the time of this video) for a listing is $10.

Kate Anderson's SitePoint Marketplace Profile

You can view Kate's profile at the link below. Take note the profile listings are updated with only the most recent, so listings are eventually deleted. I recommend that you review each site she has sold and key in on the benefits.

Kate Anderson also now offers her own course on how to flip websites called 'Flip Mastery' at:

Mini Site Design Company

The company recommended in this video is MiniSite911.com for all your mini-site and graphic design needs. However please note this is not the same mini site design company Kate Anderson used to create her mini sites. This is just one we recommend. The package we recommend is the ELITE package as it contains everything you'll need to be able to offer exactly the same type of packages that Kate offers as discussed in the video however please feel free to shop around.

Writing Resource

Highly recommend you outsource the writing if you're not a good writer or if you want to put the development aspect of the site on auto-pilot. You can find writers who are willing to write for a maximum of $5 per article. Do not go above this price. You should request a minimum of 25 articles within your niche, with each article flowing into each other in perfect sequence.

I recommend 30 articles as your purchase, so that your ebook can be a minimum of 15,000 words. When choosing a writer, always request samples of their prior work. Also be sure to explain that you want an easy to follow format with each article, with them seamlessly blending into each other.

This is to allow the articles to flow as a series. Upon receiving the 30 articles, you can then put together the articles into an ebook in PDF format.

I recommend you download OpenOffice.org writing suite. This is a free suite, that has a writing editor that allows you to automatically export what you've written as a PDF file.
